

North American 4085 Ignition Cable

Sheet 4085
Ref: Bulletin 4065/4066

4085 ignition cables connect ignition transformers to industrial spark igniters, and flame rods to burner management systems. They are made with red high temperature silicone wire, and are capable of operating at the elevated temperatures common around industrial combustion equipment.

4085 cables can be ordered with the classic part number but the configuration format offers many more options to customize cables for a wide range of applications.

The six (6) cables at the bottom of the table below are the most common 4085 cables. To be available for quick delivery, they are kept in stock under the classic part number.

CONFIGURED DESIGNATION ORDERING INFORMATION

Note: Any connection type can be configured for either cable end.

CONNECTION TYPES
